

What is behind that door, Is there a hungry elephant
Waiting to spray anyone with its hose like trunk, Is it a Room full of water where mermaids play.

IS it a room for unicorns that gallop or fairies that fly,
Are giant spiders pen planing to take over the world.

IS there raging fire or lions that dance.

A room is not a real room with nothing in it.

A + free monster, a werewolf, a bat, What is behind that door.

A friendly vampire hooes likes an innocent goblin who loves pickles.

What about an alicorn who can't fly, a werewolf who can't bite.

3 blind bats who need mice for guidance.

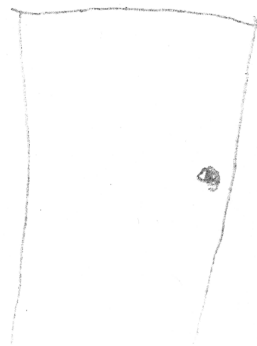

A dog that talks a cat that can't walk.

A blue room, a red room or white.

A parrot that squaks a dog that mocks.

Oh, will someone tell.

Why is the door in front of me closed.

What is behind that door?

A pencil with no eraser and an eraser with no pencil.

I wish I could open that door.

What if the thing behind that door needs me to open it.

Is a garden of plawer behind that door? Their both voices unheard to the human ear.

What about a dancing skeleton his bones clinking together as he wiggles. What about a plant with hygmues + teeth ready to eat.

A berry bush almost ready for picking.

A lion a tiger, a bear.

An ostrich that puns. A pickle with eyes. Maybe an onion that cries.

A deer that can do front flips, a gaziel that can do summersuts.

If only someone will tell me whats behind that door.

A pig with a straight tail, a sheep with a curly tail.

Is there a cow with no horns, a book with no pages

Glasses with no lenses, a tree with no leaves, a neckless with no chain or chain.

Wheels, fish, dolphins.

I don't know much but if I know one thing,
that room is not empty.
