

Jacoby's Scary Forest

In the year of 2000 there was a family. There was a mother named Eden ,an eleven year old girl named Alieyah and her twin brother named Carter. Alieyah and Carter loved the outdoors. They lived in a small old wooden house in a place where no one is known. There was a shrivelled up old forest behind there house. In between their house and the forest was a beautiful river that was filled with slippery mossy rocks surrounded with lovely beat red roses. Well that's all I'm going to tell you about that. Now let's start this story!

One beautiful sunny summer day, Eden, Alieyah, and Carter were outside gardening in there backyard. Alieyah and Carter loved fresh fruits and vegetables from their garden. After they were done gardening they went for a walk along the road that led to the middle of the village. The three of them started to play hide and seek. Eden, their mother, offered to be it for a round. The kids ran into the forest while Eden was counting but what they didn't know was that they weren't allowed in that forest. "Hurry up" yelled Carter. The two of them hid behind a great big old maple tree. They were hiding there for over a hour just waiting and waiting. "Maybe we should go back now" Alieyah suggested. "Ok" Carter replied. They started walking to where they thought the road was. When they got to the road it didn't seem like a familiar one in fact they had never seen that road before. "I think we are lost" Carter said with a frightened voice. Alieyah heard a noise coming from a bush. It sounded like feet stepping on crisp fall leaves. Then someone jumped out...

"RUN" they screamed. The person started chasing after the twins. "Help" they cried. They both ducked behind a rose bush. "Ouch. Couldn't we of hid behind a different bush" Carter said. "Stop complaining at least we are safe" Alieyah said. Carter turned around and there he was, a man. The kids were too tired to run so they just sat there. "What if he's really friendly, or if all he wants is a friend" Alieyah thought.

Alieyah jumped up and introduced herself. "Hi I'm Alieyah and this is my brother Carter" she said. "I am Jacoby" The man said. "So Jacoby Why are you out in the woods?" Alieyah asked. "I love the outdoors. I only come out during the daytime, but I have no friends to hang out with" Jacoby said. "Of course you can be our friend, we love the outdoors too!" Carter said excitedly. "You can come to our house whenever you would like". Alieyah said. "Yay thank you" Jacoby replied. The twins just grinned!

The only thing was that they didn't know how to get home." Which way is the river?" Carter asked. "Follow me" Jacoby said. They walked and walked until they finally heard the splashing on the solid crystal rocks. They climbed the fence and walked across the unstable wooden bridge. The kids ran to their mom and gave her a great big bear hug. Jacoby introduced himself to Eden. They lived happily ever after, or at least I think they did.

So the moral of the story is don't judge a book by its cover and hopefully you didn't judge my book by its cover!
